The most important influence operating in the stock market to-day has been the negative one of a withdrawal of support, and hence the surrender of the speculative situation tempolarily to the mercles of the room traders. In this particular instance the prevailing sentiment has been evidenced by the irregularity which has attended the movements of the several groups of stocks. The industrials responded promptly to the favorable statistics which have recently been published, and the buying to-day is undoubtedly of a more sub-manipulation or the covering of short contracts. But the strength of these securities has been the exception to an otherwise irreg-

Early in the day weakness was developed in Northern Pacific proferred and later in Missouri Pacific. The rather meagre returns for November and the uncovering of stop orders was unquestionably the pretext upon which the attack upon the Northern Pacific securities was based, while the report that Mr. Sage was more seriously injured than was generally supposed led to the free selling and raiding of Missouri Pacific. It was upon such hypotheses as those that the above-named securities suffered a decline of 1% # ceut. and caused some demoralisation in the group of grangers, but there were quick recoveries, and the strength of the industrials contributed in no small degree to the general feeling of confi-dence with which the market opened. There was the stimulus of fresh importations of gold, and a renewal of the foreign demand for Amer-ican securities, but, withal, a noticeable tack of enthusiasm, as shown by the sparcity of commission orders. That there should be a rejuctance to enter new fields of speculation, or even to prose an upward movement in stocks on the eve of a new Congressional session, is not to be wondered at, neither can the irregular movements of a professional market be de-plored so long as there is doubt as to the legislative position on important financial ques-tions. The deliberations of Congress will. from now on, form one of the important mar-ket influences which cannot be ignored, but pered by the universally favorable trade con-ditions of this country and the lessening fear of financial and political disturbances abroad There was a general recovery in prices near sellers of the morning were the active purchasers at the close.

SUIT ON A LIFE POLICY. The Company Says It was Forfetted-The

Papers were served yesterday on the Citizens' Mutual Life Association of 115 Broad-way in a suit brought in the Supreme Court by Mrs. Celestine Bennett of Jersey City to compel payment to her of $5,000, the amount of a policy on her husband's life. The policy was issued on Dec. 19, 1887, and contains a non-forfeitable clause taking effect after three rears. Mr. Bennett died last June. after three rears. Mr. Bennett died last June. Strong & Cadwalader are acting for Mrs. Bennett. Plaintiff claims that the policy is entirely valid, and that there is no lawful ground for withholding payment of the claim. The company says that the policy was forfeited. Mrs. Bennett alleges that her husband's relatives, who are nostile to her, have been to the insurance company and made such statements as to cause the company's by-laws a policy which has lapsed by reason of non-payment of assessments may be made good by paying up the assessments and showing proof that the holder is at the time in sound health. Bennett's policy lapsed, and it is alleged that in renewing it false statements were made. This, the company states, is only one of a number of reasons why the policy is void. word.

Mrs. Bennett says that when she called on the company Mr. Whiten, the company's counsel, effect to compromise, first for $1,250, then $1,500, then $2,000, and finally for $3,000 if she would sign a receipt then and there.
